'Chutists Drop on Sumatra

Batavia, N. E. I.

Feb. 14 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

Striking close to the heart of the Indies, Japan attacked southern Sumatra today with airborne troops which landed near Palembang, strategic oil port, 250 miles from Batavia.

Dutch defenders, however, were declared officially to be more than holding their own and killing parachutists by the dozens.

The Japanese also were reported pressing down closer to Java from the north and the Dutch command said there were unofficial reports that Bandjermasin, capital of South Borneo, had been occupied by the invaders.

The Dutch already had carried out careful destruction at the town on the South Borneo coast just across the Java sea from Batavia and the big Soerabaja naval station.

(As the danger thus came closer to the heart of the Dutch islands, the Australian radio reported that Australian and other British imperial troops landed at Batavia and "are taking up positions for the defense" of the key island.)

The attack on Palembang was the second use of parachutists in five weeks of operations against Netherlands Indies territory. It also was the first land operation on the 160-mile long island.

(A Batavia broadcast picked up in San Francisco by CBS stated that hundreds of the parachutists were killed.)

It was not known whether the Japanese were attempting to land troops directly from transport planes, but this would be an obvious consequence of any seizure

REDS STORM FORTIFIED NAZI LINES

Moscow

OFFICIAL NEWS

Red army forces driving west mile after mile on the front between Moscow and Leningrad reported today that they had stormed fortified positions which the Germans built in preparation for a stand until spring.

One unit reported that its advance was so long continued that its soldiers' felt winter boots were worn out from steady marching and had to be replaced.

With one Red army ski-troop spearhead reported operating in White Russia behind Nazi invasion lines, the Soviet information bureau said today "our troops continued to advance, overpowering German resistance."

OFFICIAL NEWS

Enemy artillery on the Cavite shore today resumed its siege of American-held forts in Manila bay, but on land Japanese forces appeared to be digging in instead of launching their anticipated "all-out" attack against Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The lull in land fighting which has continued for more than a week was topped today by news that Japanese troops facing MacArthur's line were entrenching themselves on the Bataan peninsula.

While infantry activity was held to aggressive skirmishes, MacArthur reported that American-Filipino artillerymen were dueling with the Japs.

Renewal of the bombardment on harbor defenses indicated that the Japanese had set up batteries in new positions after smashing counter blows from American defenses.

There was no indication that the Cavite siege guns are having any more success against the forts than they have had the past 10 days. Heavy guns from Corregidor and three other forts across Manila bay time and again have smashed enemy gun emplacements.

PLANES HALT JAPS IN BURMA

Rangoon

Feb. 14 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

Japanese pressure eased along the entire East Burma front tonight after a heavy force of Allied bombers, skimming at tree-top level, dropped thousands of pounds of fragmentation bombs on enemy troop concentrations in the Paan area.

The Blenheim bombers struck at the Japanese about two miles from Paan, on the road to Thabon—an admission that the enemy had forced a second crossing of the broad Salween river.

The Japanese already had forced their way across at the mouth of the river, capturing Martaban on the west side of the river earlier this week. Paan is about 30 miles upstream from Martaban.

"The situation is becoming quieter on the whole front," a British army communique said.

Details of the fighting were not available immediately but the war bulletin said considerable casualties had been inflicted upon the Japanese forces attempting to get a footing on the west bank of the river 30 miles north of Martaban.

RAF headquarters announced Japanese air activity also had slackened, but British and American volunteer pilots kept pounding Japanese positions.

Wide ranging reconnaissance flights were made over Jap-held territory by daylight, the RAF communique said, and the Allied fighters made one offensive sweep over the Moulmein area at the Salween estuary.

No raiders appeared over Burma last night. Meanwhile truckloads of fresh Chinese veterans poured into Burmese bases.

Thousands of other soldiers of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's legions were reported on the way—reinforcing a vanguard which hiked in recently from South Kwangsi province to man eastern frontier

Striking Tacoma Welders Routed

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 14 (AP)—Nearly 1000 AFL shipyard workers today overwhelmed a reinforced picketline of about 400 independently-organized welders and, swinging "lin" helmets and yelling "don't be a white Jap," pushed them 1½ miles down a factory-walled right-of-way.

It was the second consecutive day in which demonstrating welders were beaten and put to flight by patricially-shouting workers at the Seattle-Tacoma shipyards here. Similar scenes on a smaller scale were enacted simultaneously at the Birchfield Boiler Works three miles away.

In each case, the greatly outnumbered policemen on duty at the yard gates stepped aside when the melee started.

OFFICIAL NEWS

Battle-grimed imperial defenders of Singapore held the city and both of its big reservoirs tonight under incessant Japanese shelling and bombing, grimly staving off hard-driven attacks from two directions.

Reports from Batavia, where some of the wounded troops from Singapore have arrived, said the beleaguered city was shrouded with smoke and red with flames from the aerial and artillery pounding.

But British field guns and heavy mortars from coastal defense emplacements thundered back the defiance of the British, Australian, Indian and Malayan defenders.

(An International News Service dispatch said NBC in New York heard a broadcast saying the huge shore guns of Singapore have been swung around to pound the Japs approaching overland.)

TANKS CHECK JAPS

Batavia reports said for the first time in the fight British tanks have gone into action over the open country around Singapore, helping check the onslaught.

A Singapore broadcast said defense guns blasted the causeway across the Strait of Johore, indicating the Japanese had made filled in breaches in that link between the mainland and Singapore.

"The defenders are disputing every enemy attempt to advance further toward the heart of Singapore town," a communique declared.

It disclosed that in addition to Japanese pressure from the race course, water reservoir and rail section northwest of the city, the Japs have driven hard into the Paya Lebar area. Paya Lebar village is three miles from the out-

Churchill Probes Nazi Fleet Escape

LONDON, Feb. 14 (INS)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today ordered a searching inquiry into circumstances surrounding the escape of the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the cruiser Prinz Eugen from Brest to Helgoland Bight.

"MATINEE BANDIT'S VICTIMS"—At Municipal Court today are Gloria Morabito of Belmont, Edith Sprizza of Revere and Margaret Kean of Dorchester (l. to r.), victims of daring daylight holdups in downtown shops. Brony Verisofsky of Saugus, charged with the holdups, was ordered held in $10,000 bail for the grand jury by Judge Thomas W. Tomassello.

WEYMOUTH SOLDIER, CITED, TELLS OF RAID

Although he was seriously wounded under fire when the Japanese forces struck at Wheeler Field, Hawaii, Dec. 7, Pvt. Thomas W. Ryan, of Williams ave., South Weymouth, disclosed in a letter to his father James Ryan, that he had begged his company commander not to place him on the list of those to be transferred to the United States.

For his bravery under the bomb and machine gunning of the attacking enemy he received a commendation from Brig.-Gen. H. C. Davidson, air corps commander.

His story of what happened that fateful Sunday morning is contained in the following letter to his parents:

January 12, 1942.

Hello Folks,

Well, here's hoping that everything is all right up there. Everything is swell down here.

I hope that you will be able to read this. My arm is still plenty sore. In fact, I am only using half of it.

I know that I should have written before, but I could just about move it.

You asked me to tell how bad I was hit. Well, here it is.

On December 7, I woke up from a nice sound sleep to the tune of an exploding bomb, and then I saw the "Rising Sun" insignia on the ships. I knew what the score was. I got some coveralls on and went down stairs, heading for

Planes Alone Cannot Protect Nation's Shores

LONDON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A British authority declared today that the Dover straits battle with the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst proved that "aircraft alone cannot prevent enemy surface ships from making a descent on our shores."

He said the British hurled 600 planes from fleet fighters to huge bombers at the German battleships and the cruiser Prinz Eugene without stopping or sinking them.

A tremendous storm in Parliament was anticipated as wrath and apprehension swept Britain today over the possible strategic results of the spectacular flight of the three powerful warships through the Strait of Dover.

Throughout the country there was a growing clamor for the grand inquest Churchill quickly ordered into the audacious Nazi coup—and why it was allowed to happen.

Newspapers lashed at Churchill and his government. Only the Daily Express came to Churchill's defense, appealing to the public not to "fling" the Prime Minister.

GIVES NAZI STRONG FLEET

Private inquests, conducted last night in every home and "pub" in the land, continued today as newspapers agitatedly discussed what may be expected now that the German warships are safe at German bases.

It was pointed out that the Germans now may be able to unify a powerful naval force, including the battleship Tirpitz, the pocket battleships Admiral Scheer and Luetzow, the Admiral Hipper and other cruisers, and perhaps even the aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin and Deutschland, though it is not known whether the Deutschland is completed.

The British consensus was that the Germans may first try to strangle seaborne aid flowing to Russia via the Arctic in the knowledge that the United Nations are committed to begin in the near future even greater deliveries of material to the Soviets.

HEAP IRE ON CHURCHILL

It is even possible that the Germans might try to use this concentration of naval power, supported by Italian units, in an effort to disrupt sea communications between Britain and the United States.

The London Mirror and other papers hammered the government furiously and even the staid Times of London commented soberly:

"The public asks not for a

BONDS FOR BOMBERS—The "Buy Bonds for Bombers" fund swells as Joseph Gorrasi, Grand Venerable of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge Order of Sons of Italy in America and City Solicitor of Woburn, buys $50,000 worth of defense bonds from Harry J. Stabile (left), president of the Stabile Bank and Trust Co.

$201,000 to the BUY BOMBERS WITH BONDS campaign today—nearly the full price of one of the United Nations' biggest bombers.

This brought the campaign total close to the two million dollars mark in the effort to purchase MASSACHUSETTS VICTORY BOMBERS, an effort undertaken by the Boston Daily Record-American, Sunday Advertiser in co-operation with the Treasury Department.

BUY BIG BLOCKS

It was announced to these newspapers by Joseph Gorrasi, grand venerable of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, that on Wednesday his organization had bought $50, 000 worth of defense bonds at the Stable Bank & Trust Co., Salem st., North End.

In addition, said Grand Venerable Gorrasi, the Order of Sons of Italy in America bought $50,000 more in defense bonds for another lodge.

As if these were not magnificent shots directed at the foes of America, the official stated that for the rest of the BUY A BOMBER WITH BONDS campaign, the 123 lodges throughout Massachusetts would guarantee $100,000 more in bond purchases to be added.

ITALIAN YOUNGSTERS AID

Speaking for the Junior Division Department of the order, Grand Venerable Gorrasi declared that the 73 youngster lodges in the state are aiding in the drive through the purchase of Defense Stamps and that $1000 more could be credited to the drive through the junior purchases.

Thus a grand total of $201,000 to KEEP 'EM FLYING FOR VICTORY.

PROBERS MAY 'TEAR LID OFF' RUBBER CRISIS

AKRON, O., Feb. 14 (AP)—The Truman committee next Tuesday "will launch an investigation that will tear the lid off the rubber situation in this country," Senator Ralph Brewster (R.) of Maine, a member of the committee, declared today.

Brewster told interviewers:

"I know that Donald Nelson and his associates in the War Production Board are far from satisfied with the way Jesse Jones has handled the synthetic situation."

The United States' synthetic production last year was about 10,000 tons. Secretary of Commerce Jones, as head of the Federal Loan Agency, recently announced plans for construction of new plants which would provide about 400,000 tons annually by mid-1943—in addition to output previously planned.

The Maine Republican quoted Price Administrator Leon Henderson as saying:

"The whole synthetic program is only a gleam in Jesse Jones' eye."

In an address to Summit County Republican organizations, Sen. Brewster said:

"We intend to find out the exact stage of the plans for the synthetic plants provided for in the $800,000,000 construction program."

"We believe we ought to know where they are going to be located, how fast they are going to be built and why some steps to expand synthetic production were not taken before disaster in the Far East overtook us."

10 FLEE FIRE IN WOBURN

Flames whipped by a high wind today forced 10 Woburn residents to flee in their nightclothes and destroyed a garage and bowling alley in Concord.

Cries of a nine-month-old infant led to the discovery of the Woburn fire by Neil Murray, father of the child, Neil, Jr. Murray, after leading his wife and child to safety, roused the other families in the three-story wooden building on Greenwood st.

Forced to flee were Mr. and Mrs. James Murray and their children, Mary, 11, James, Jr., nine, and John, four; Mrs. Robert Ludio and her daughter Gloria, three. All ROUTED — Awakened by screams of his nine-month-old son, Neil Murray led his wife and baby to safety today when fire broke out in their three-story home in Woburn. Murray then roused the other families. Driven out also were Mrs. Robert Ludio and her three-year-old daughter, Gloria, (at left). Damage was estimated at $10,000.

30 fled without recovering any of their possessions.

Woburn firemen were aided by the Winchester department in extinguishing the fire which caused $10,000 damage.

In Concord flames, believed to have started from an overheated furnace, completely gutted the Minute Man garage and the McManus Bowling Alleys on Thoreau st., opposite the Concord railroad station.

Firemen from West Concord were called on a second alarm and succeeded in pushing 15 automobiles stored in the garage to safety. Fifteen other cars were badly damaged in the flames.

Damage to the two-story wooden garage, a converted livery stable, was estimated at $40,000.

War Spending Bill Wins O.K.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (INS)—A House appropriations subcommittee today approved the new record $32,000,000,000 war spending bill and prepared to bring it to the floor Tuesday.

The measure—largest appropriation bill in history—provides $22,800,000,000 for the Army, Chiefly for ordnance, $3,800,000,000 for the Maritime Commission to step up its shipbuilding program and $5,400,000,000 for additional lend-lease aid to this country's allies.

Approval came after a fight over the prices to be paid for agricultural goods which constitute a large part of the new proposed lend-lease program.

350,000 TO REGISTER IN BAY STATE

Selective service officials announced today that they expected 350,000 Massachusetts men to sign up with Uncle Sam Sunday and Monday. Because of the large number registering, Brig. Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, State director, requested registrants to go to centers in their home areas registered anywhere in the country during the registration period.

The age groups to be registered include all men not previously registered who have attained their 20th birthday on Dec. 31, 1941, and who have not reached their 45th birthday on Feb. 16, 1942. In other words, all unregistered males resident in the United States who were born between Feb. 17, 1897, and Dec. 31, 1921.

ADVANCE REGISTRATION

While registration must be conducted as of Feb. 16th to conform to the President's proclamation, is used early in January, Governor Saltonstall has also proclaimed advance registration on Sunday.

When registered each man must give his name, residence, mailing address if other than residence, telephone, age in years and date of birth, place of birth, name and address of person who will always know his address, employer's name and address and place of employment or business.

After a registrant has answered all questions and signed his name to the registration card, he will be given a registration certificate signed by the registrar. This certificate must be in the personal possession of the registrant at all times.

MUST CARRY CERTIFICATE

Failure to possess the certificate, or to show it to authorized persons constitutes a violation of selective service regulations and is considered prima facie evidence of failure to register.

Registration on Sunday will be between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., and on Monday between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

Hub Defense Plants, Harbor Ships Stay Lighted in Blackout

Boston's humming defense industries will operate without any curtailment in lighting during the city-wide blackout test next Tuesday from 10 to 10:20 p. m.

This was the decision reached by Army, Navy and civilian defense leaders after the War Department at Washington pointed out that defense production right now is more vital than air raid tests.

At the same time, the Navy and the Coast Guard decided there will be no blackout in harbor waters. Vessels in the harbor and those coming in are to carry all navigation lights in order to avoid collisions.

EL TO STOP

Otherwise all Boston will be shrouded in darkness during the "blackout" period. All visible lighting in homes and office buildings will be extinguished. Street cars and buses will stop during the test. Tunnel trains will halt at the nearest station for 20 minutes, but traffic outside the city limits will proceed as usual.

Wardens in the Boston Air Raid Precaution service are to report to their designated posts at 9:15 p. m. and will remain on duty until 11 p. m., unless relieved at an earlier hour.

WARDENS WEAR BAND

As a means of identification, each warden will wear a white kerchief or band on his left arm and have with him a properly endorsed identification card. If he possesses a badge, he will wear it on the left lapel of his overcoat. Wardens may carry flashlights, but they are to be used only in an emergency.

Public Works Commr. George G. Hyland announced yesterday that street excavations in the city of Boston will not be lighted by lanterns during the blackout. In place of lanterns, wooden horses painted white will act as guides.

At the same time, the Edison and gas companies revealed that streets they have dug up will have special lanterns, with the globe black, except for a half-inch of red at a horizontal level.

—FOR VICTORY: BUY BONDS— Governor Asks War Plants Run on 23d

Gov. Saltonstall today urged all war industries to operate at full speed on Washington's Birthday holiday, Monday, Feb. 23.

In addition, the chief executive told civilian defense units the day would be ideal to carry their training, while heads of state departments were notified they must maintain adequate forces on duty to handle any matter connected with war work.

UNDER KNIFE—The condition of Ava Gardner, actress wife of Film Star Mickey Rooney, was reported as "satisfactory" today following an emergency appendectomy in Hollywood.

FISHERMEN WIN, STRIKE IN HUB ENDED

The five-week strike of Boston fishermen ended today when boat owners agreed to pay premiums on war risk insurance for the men who ply the dangerous waters of the North Atlantic.

The agreement removed a threat of confiscation by the War Labor Board after the owners and men failed to agree.

The men will return to work Monday, according to Edward H. Cooley, secretary-treasurer of Federated Fishing Boats of New England and New York, Inc.

Under the agreement the owners will provide $5000 war risk insurance for each crew member and $200 for personal effects.

The plan will continue for three months during which the War Labor Board will arbitrate the question for permanent settlement.

Union officials accepted the temporary agreement "gladly" but withheld comment as whether they would abide by the ultimate decision by the WLB on who should pay the premiums.

The dispute developed when crews of 50 boats refused to leave port without war risk insurance paid for by owners. The latter offered to split the premium cost with the men but this was rejected by the union and the strike followed.

U. S. Bans Tin In Costume Jewelry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The end of costume jewelry for the duration of the war became a virtual certainty today when the War Production Board froze all supplies of tin and tin-bearing materials now held by manufacturing jewelers—some 1,600,000 pounds.

The jewelers already have been forbidden to use lead and copper, other than supplies on hand. As of March 31, they will be prohibited from using even these supplies. Under the terms of the tin restrictions, all inventories are subject to purchase or seizure by the WPB; none of the metal in stock may be fabricated or melted.

With copper, tin and lead denied them, the manufacturers have lost the principal metals used in costume jewelry, and WPB spokesmen said no satisfactory substitutes had been developed.

OK, Lets Try Those Wooden Auto Tires

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14 (AP)—The answer to the nation's rubber tire shortage may lie in America's forests rather than in the jungles of South America.

Glen Conrad, who operates a basket lunch system and manufactures dry ice equipment here, asserts he has that answer—wooden tires.

Conrad had produced several wooden tire models and William Moore, president of a large milk distributing concern, announced that his firm was ready to give the timber treads a trial before resorting to horse and wagon deliveries should truck and tire rationing force the issue.

The tires, built of six-inch blocks held together by a circular steel rod, may not be a luxury but they're practical, Conrad asserted.

He explains it this way: "It's a step between the horse and wagon and a motor vehicle. A horse can travel three or four miles an hour walking, eight miles an hour trotting."

"My wooden tires will stand 15 miles an hour, won't cost much to produce and will eliminate the outlay for horses."

Conrad has applied for a patent and says he intends to manufacture the wooden tires.

Only One Jap Could Dive Past Navy's Wall of Fire

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Feb. 14 (AP)—Jack Rice, Associated

Press photographer, was aboard a cruiser participating in the devastating U. S. naval attack on Japanese mid-Pacific islands on Feb. 1. Here are some of his recollections:

In the hours of battle off the island of Tarawa, it was the 13th dive-bombing attack on us that finally connected. Luckily, the damage was slight.

There were 19 attempts to dive-bomb us, but only that one pilot got through the hail of anti-aircraft fire low enough to score one for their side. There were plenty of close shaves, though.

After the big guns of our cruiser had pounded the island defenses for more than an hour it looked as if we were in for a bad time.

"Hey, there's some big planes taking off, and they look like torpedo planes," the chief signalman yelled. And there they were, eight big birds pulling up over the trees toward us.

Then came that ominous whoosh and 16 bombs exploded close enough to send a shower of water and deadly fragments over our stern. Everybody aboard sighed with relief. If those babies had connected it might have been a bad story.

We fully expected the planes to reload and come back at us, but they didn't. From all I've heard, it appears that some of our own planes from a carrier walked in about then and just about wrecked everything on the island.

Many times we were under air attack, but gunners manning our main batteries didn't seem a bit concerned as they sent shells whipping into the enemy.

Probe Sudden Death of N. Y. Official's Bride

YONKERS, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Florence Nimick Schnoor, who recently became the bride at the state assembly's sergeant-at-arms, died in St. Joseph's hospital yesterday in circumstances which precipitated an investigation by the police and medical examiner.

Detective Capt. Patrick Sullivan said that Mrs. Schnoor, member of a prominent Greenwich, Ct., family and described by relatives as a grandniece of the late Andrew Carnegie, was admitted to the hospital yesterday after undergoing an operation he said was performed earlier in New York city. Mrs. Schnoor died in the hospital here shortly after admission.

Sullivan quoted her husband, Richard Schnoor, as saying the marriage took place a week ago and that the couple had planned to keep it secret.

"Schnoor told me he did not know of his wife's illness until yesterday," Sullivan said. "The husband is the victim of a tragedy."

Medical Examiner Amos D. Squire said that Mrs. Schnoor was a daughter of Edward Nimick, wealthy society man now living in Monte Carlo.

skirts of Singapore, on the road northeast to Serangoon.

BATTLE 2 MILES AWAY

The Jap thrust from the northwest already had reached Tanglin, two miles west of the center of the city.

The communique said the Japanese were maintaining their pressure and keeping the "Jion City" under continual bombing and shelling.

"During yesterday afternoon," the war report said, "enemy attacks developed in the Paya Lebar area and in the west. Both were in considerable strength."

"Today the enemy has maintained his pressure supporting his attacks with a number of high-level bombing raids by large formations of aircraft, by continual shelling by his artillery and by low dive-bombing attacks."

"His artillery has also shelled the town intermittently throughout the night and this morning. "Our troops—British, Australian, Indian and Malayan—are disputing every enemy attempt to advance further toward the heart of Singapore town."

BRITISH HOLD RESERVOIRS

"In the town itself, civil defense services are making every effort to deal with the damage and civilian casualties caused by the hostile shelling and bombing."

The heaviest fighting centers around reservoirs.

Informed sources expressed belief that loss of the reservoirs would not affect the stand of the British garrison immediately.

Batavia reported that the Singapore radio said tonight the reservoirs on Singapore island are still in British hands. Singapore's communique on the position of the battle lines had indicated that at least part of these central basins of fresh water were in Japanese control.

"Our troops counterattacked at one point at least and established a new line," the announcer said. "The reservoirs are still in our hands."

GUNS FOUND CAUSEWAY

"Johore causeway under the fire of our guns was rendered impassable last night."

(The reference to the causeway indicated the Japanese had made efforts to fill in the breaches in this mainland connection of Singapore. It is a land which the Imperials had blasted upon their retirement from the Malayan peninsula.)

The Singapore announcer said British batteries were pouring a murderous fire into the Japanese, raining 400 shells an hour on the invaders' lines in the sector alone Japanese guns answered with a heavy bombardment of the city.

of a field on which such planes could be landed.

The first of the Japanese dropped onto Sumatra near Palembang in the morning, followed by more and more as the troop-carrying planes soared over, guarded by fighters, the war bulletin said.

Although troops were dropped at three places in the Palembang area, the communique said "Palembang itself is not threatened" and "there are no indications that parachutists dropped close to or entered the town."

A stiff defense was indicated by the announcement that "our troops have done excellent work and it may be assumed that the situation is not unfavorable."

A special announcement issued at 6 p. m. (6:30 a. m. E. S. T.) indicated that the fight still was going on and said "further news is expected."

U. S. Official Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The War Department communique, No. 108, based on reports received up until 9:30 a. m. (E. W. T.), today said:

"1—Philippine Theater: Operations in Bataan during the past 24 hours included heavy artillery dueling and aggressive infantry skirmishes."

"In some sections of the front enemy troops are entrenching their positions."

"Enemy artillery fire from the Cavite shore was again directed against our harbor defenses. No material damage resulted."

"The enemy was active in the air on all parts of our front."

"2—There is nothing to report from other areas."

scapegoat, but whether every man in the administration . . . is the best man available."

"Escape of the warships from Brest marks a crisis in the course of the war," said the News Chronicle.

"Have we not been hypnotized by Churchill's personality? Churchill must surely see the red light now."

The channel battle was described by the London Daily Sketch as leaving Britain in a "state of mingled stupefaction, admiration and anger." And this paper added:

"Churchill must be brought by one means or another to a clearer recognition of some essential truths."

"Does he take too much upon himself?"

CHURCHILL TO EXPLAIN

And the Daily Herald fulminated:

"We look pretty foolish today. Our boasted command of the seas has been sharply degraded for the second time in the space of weeks . . ."

"The government would be unwise to delay or hedge in answering many questions."

Amid the storm of criticism Britain awaited with unusual interest a broadcast survey of the war situation Churchill had scheduled for 9 p. m. (4 p. m. E. W. T.) tomorrow before Thursday's channel battle suddenly changed the entire situation. There was wide speculation on the effect this new development might have on Churchill's broadcast.

Until the protest over British failure to halt the German warships, it had been presumed he would broadcast then. But today it was impossible to confirm whether the BBC had reserved time for him.

JUNIOR ARMY MODEL MAKERS BUSY ON PLANES FOR NAVY

Balsa chips are flying these days in basements, attics, make-shift shops and manual training school rooms as young model plane builders of the Junior Victory Army of New England swing into the job of helping Uncle Sam train his war fliers.

The model makers are practicing construction of solid, light wood planes on a one to 72-inch scale in preparation for turning out 500,000 model planes for the U. S. Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

Of this number, 18,000 has been set as the Massachusetts quota in 150 cities and towns.

Plans and specifications are expected to be issued to high schools about Feb. 23. Meanwhile the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics has suggested that Junior Birdmen, members of youth aviation leagues and model plane builders of the Junior Victory Army, practice building light, solid models on the one to 72-inch scale.

The P-40E fighter, the Grumman, and the Curtiss Hawk are models that could be used in this practice. They have not been officially announced as models that will be called for.

MUST BE ACCURATE

To help those who plan to take part in this program, headquarters of the Junior Victory Army suggests that these instructions be followed:

1—Models must be built accurately to the scale of 1 to 72. To insure this model makers should see that their work is supervised and checked by one of the public school manual training teachers. Models not accurately scaled cannot be used by the government.

2—Do not send any models to this newspaper or to the Navy Department. All models should be submitted to high school manual training teachers as the U. S. Office of Education is sponsoring the program. Mr. Norcross Stratton, assistant director of state vocational education will have charge of the program in Massachusetts.

3—Beginners are cautioned that only first class work can be accepted.

The navy will use the models to train flying cadets in types, identification and range. Ten thousand models of 50 different makes are needed.

Many experienced model plane builders of high school age are listed as members of the Junior Victory Army and are expected to help meet the quotas fixed for the New England states.

EASY TO JOIN

The Junior Army is open to all boys and girls between 10 and 18 years old in New England. To join is a simple task. Just clip the enrollment blank appearing with this story, fill in your name, age and address, printing plainly with pencil. Then mail it in as directed. That makes you a member.

If, in addition, you want the red, white and blue insignia pin, similar to the facsimile appearing at the top of the coupon, enclose a 10-cent coin (well wrapped) with your enrollment blank.

The metal pins, suitable for wearing on your coat, blouse or cap, will be distributed by mail to all members who enclose dimes with their enrollments, as soon as they are received from the manufacturer.

The Junior Army was established to encourage more and more boys and girls to engage in defense activities to serve their country and their community and to arouse more enthusiasm by those already organized by other youth associations.

News of these activities is printed daily in the Record, the Evening American and the Sunday Advertiser.

standpoint but purely from patriotic motives.

"Purchasing bonds for bombers is giving us the assurance that America will be victorious, and that America will save its priceless heritage and traditions so sacred to all Americans.

"I heartily endorse the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser campaign to 'Buy Bonds To Build Bombers' and the more assurance we can give our government that we are 100 per cent behind it, the more bombers we can produce.

"All this co-operation will result in final victory."

Members of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts defense savings committee include the following:

Anthony Julian, chairman, of Carleton ter., Watertown; Joseph B. Silverio, of Rantoul st., Beverly; Louis Moccia, of Baker st., Belmont; Joseph M. Bonfigli, of Walnut st., Belmont; Mrs. Jennie De Vito, of Cambridge st., Cambridge; Joseph M. Magaldi, of Wayne ave., South Braintree, and Mrs. Alma Maher, of Spring st., Milford.

In the Junior Division Commission the officers are:

The splendid contribution of the Order of Sons of Italy in America followed closely upon a boost in the campaign lent by Collector of Internal Revenue Thomas B. Hasset and the employees of his office, who have formed a Victory Club. From this important office of Uncle Sam came announcement that the employees have signified their intention of increasing pay envelope deductions to the point where, by the end of 1942, they will have bought individually at least $50,000 worth of Defense Bonds.

So—as the first week of the Hearst Newspapers BONDS FOR BOMBERS campaign ends, the way has well been paved.

There are three more weeks to go—weeks which should be BIG WEEKS.

Each succeeding week during the drive should pile up the forces which will go toward defeating the enemies of America.

'Mothers' Bomber' Plan Of Maine Woman

From a mother at North Berwick, Me., there came today the novel suggestion that every mother who is a reader of the Boston Advertiser contribute $1 for the purchase of a "Mothers' Bomber" to be directed at the enemies who have taken their sons away.

The letter to the Hearst newspapers in Boston came from Mrs. Mollie E. Magee of North Berwick, and with it she enclosed her dollar as a start of this new and novel fund.

Already she has given her only

You Can Specify Bonds Are for Bomber Drive

Individuals buying defense bonds may stipulate on the purchase application blank that their purchases are in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers Campaign.

On the left-hand side of the green application blank, opposite where you write the name with which the bond is to be inscribed, notice the three words: "Buy for Defense." Immediately above this is a small space in which can be written "Massachusetts Bombers Campaign." Write this only in the space described.

Individuals or firms buying either stamps or bonds in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers drive are requested to notify the newspapers by WRITING to the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR, 5 Winthrop Sq., Boston, so that the amount representing their investment may be listed.

It is specifically requested that individual purchases be reported in writing rather than by telephone.

son in the war, and her letter said:

"There isn't much we mothers can do besides giving our sons to sponsor a 'Home Fires' burning. But I am sure there is not a single mother who would not be more than happy to give to what I am about to ask you.

"I would like to ask your paper to sponsor a 'Mothers' Club' to buy a 'Mothers' Bomber' to be given to our country, your papers to receive all monies and then to give it to the right people to supply the bomber.

WAR MOTHER HELPS

"There would be no strings to the amount given, but one dollar from every mother who reads your papers would soon add that extra bomber, or whatever else the government would see fit to use it for.

"I feel so sure your paper will be glad to go ahead with the plan that I am enclosing the first 'one dollar'.

"I have already given my one and only son, and I am so sure every mother will want to help in this cause that I do not mind asking this great favor of you. "So, in hopes we can keep them flying, and keep our boys from dying, I remain, sincerely, (Signed) Mrs. Mollie E. Magee."

The Hearst newspapers in Boston feel that the best way that Mrs. Magee's purpose can be carried out is to turn her contribution into defense stamps—which has been done, and the stamps forwarded to her.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Admiral Thomas C. Hart, who was relieved earlier in the week of his command of United Nations sea forces in the Southwest Pacific because of illness, is coming home, President Roosevelt asserted with the title of commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

He told a press conference that this designation still existed for a section of the fleet, although for purposes of cooperation with the United Nations, the American sea forces in the Pacific battle areas had been called the American forces of the Southwest Pacific.

Study at Home Shorthand Course Is Easy

Interesting Job For Shorthand Expert

Thousands of women today are holding positions of trust and importance, are feeling the thrill of being in on big events—because they know shorthand.

It isn't hard to teach yourself shorthand! The Pitman system is just a shorter, quicker method of writing. Instead of spelling out a word letter by letter, you just write quick easy symbols for the way it sounds.

The word "pay," for instance, is a slanting stroke and a dot—the slant for the 'p' sound, the dot for the 'ay' sound.

In our 40-page booklet, "Pitman Shorthand Self-Taught," you'll find 15 step-by-step lessons with symbols and exercises for practice. Gives word signs and phrase forms; how to get job-winning speed.

Send 15 cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for our booklet, "Pitman Shorthand Self-Taught," to Boston Evening American Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Courtesy Tip

Instead of making the lazy excuse "I never can remember people's names," make the resolution that from this time forth you will make every effort to remember people's names. It's a great social asset, and brings great rewards.

(Mrs. Beekman will be glad to answer questions on Good Manners submitted by readers.)

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a dance when there are two checkrooms that are adjoining, one for the girls and one for the men, does the girl leave the tip for the checkroom attendant, or should her escort tip the attendant?

Worried Congress Sees Pension Repeal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Frankly worried by taunts and ridicule from the folks back home, senators and House members today forecast speedy repeal of the "Pensions for Congress" provisions recently made a part of the nation's law.

"I'm in a worse fix now than I have been for six years—and that with the elections coming up in the fall," said one congressman.

Majority Leader Barkley (D.) of Kentucky said he would attach a repeal rider to the first bill before the Senate if the Senate Civil Service Committee, which approved the pensions, failed to approve repeal "within a reasonable time."

On the House side, Reps. Smith (R.) of Ohio and Nichols (D.) of Oklahoma started separate campaigns to force a repeal onto the floor, by circulation of petitions. Senators showed they were super-sensitive to the ironic "Pensions for Congress" publicity and other jibes at the nation's lawmakers for voting themselves pensions.

Barkley, after publicly taking leadership of the repeal drive in the Senate yesterday, said he believed the facts had been misrepresented and that Congress has been unjustly "held up to ridicule."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming told the Senate yesterday that the public apparently had the impression that every member of Congress would get a pension of $4000 a year when defeated or retired. He said the repeal would show that Congress was "not a conglomeration of grab-seeking individuals."

Ride 'Em Cowboy' Premiere At RKO Boston on Feb. 27

Upon his return from a meeting with General Manager Charles W. Koerner at the RKO Theaters' New York home office Division Manager Harry McDonald announces the gala premiere of Abbott and Costello's latest comedy hit, "Ride 'Em Cowboy," for Feb. 27 at the RKO Boston Theater.

Screen Star Dick Powell will make his first personal appearance at the head of the accompanying stage show.

Said to be their funniest and greatest picture, the popular comics Abbott and Costello have the time of their lives bronco busting. They are surrounded by a cast of screen favorites, including Dick Foran, Anne Gwynne, John Mack Brown, the Merry Maes, Ella Fitzgerald, The Hi Haters, The Buckaroo Band and Ranger Chorus of forty.

The new comedy includes numerous song hits, among them being "Beside the Rio Tanto" and the theme song, "Ride 'Em Cowboy."

It is quite a coincidence that Powell's most recent screen appearance was with Abbott and Costello in "In the Navy."

This great combination show of Feb. 27, follows the personal appearance engagement of Laurel and Hardy, starting next Friday the 20th.

ELLINGTON'S JIVE SCORES AT RKO BOSTON

Ethel Waters Gets Ovation

By PEGGY DOYLE

Duke Ellington, who can even make "clinkers" (bad notes) harmonize and his hand collaborates with Ethel Waters, one of America's great artists, this week to flood the RKO-Boston with melody indigo, dark-brown, in fact, every color of the rainbow.

Emimently gifted, "the Duke" offered a program of hit-parade numbers, with the now hotter-than-hot "I've Got It Bad and That Ain't Good" leading them all, that included most of his own compositions. Remember "Solitude," "Sophisticated Lady," "I Let a Song Go Out of My Heart," "It Don't Mean a Thing if It Ain't Got That Swing," "Caravan," "Mood Indigo," "Sentimental Mood." All Ellington's.

They never sounded better, either, than as heard yesterday at the Boston's opening show, which has assembled a capacity-house of Ellington-conscious music appreciators.

If you'll notice, the Ellington outfit plays without music. Probably it's because "the Duke" writes for the men in his band, it's their kind of music and they've been perfecting it since the band first organized 21 years ago.

Miss Waters, her starring "Cabin in the Sky," stage tour terminated, brings a new and naughty lament, "Ain't Gonna Sin," that becomes a classic as her vocal cords record it. Her copyrighted version of "Stormy Weather" continues to top them all as does her "St. Louis Blues" and "Frankie and Johnny." Incidentally, it was she who first introduced "St. Louis Blues" 22 years ago in a Baltimore theater.

In several spirituals, Miss Waters was assisted by three Negro school girls harmonizing with unusual skill. Pot, Pan and Skillet, comedy dancing stars from Ellington's recent West coast musical, "Jump for Joy," will keep the laugh-wrinkles in your faces throughout their performance. They are axes all three of them.

Ellington's concerto, called "Clinkers," employs every instrument in the band singly and together, giving out with none but the wrong notes. As Ellington has assembled them and his organization plays them, they make some lovely sounds.

The film feature is "North to the Klondike," adaptation of Jack London's adventure-story with Brod Crawford, Andy Devine, Lon Chaney and Evelyn Ankers.

FUR CAPE PLUS SMALL SAILOR FOR THE SPRING

By BETTINA BEDWELL

FUR designers say that the small fur cape, which means a cape anywhere from shoulder length to hip-length, is what women who look for a light fur wrap to wear in the Spring are wanting. They choose these capes in short-haired furs, rather than in the long haired fox.

And to wear with such light fur wraps, the hat of the hour is the small sailor made of gay colored stuff, or else trimmed with it. This pair of new comers will set you right into the heart of the Spring fashions, when paired with a smart dress.

The cape of mink, or nutria, Persian lamb or caracul, with a rippling hem and a small, close fitted collar, is a very smart kind of wrap, and one that is being chosen by lots of women. Our sketch shows you what it looks like.

The sailor hat sketched with this cape is a Bragaard model of white straw and has a small, coarse net snood at the back. It is trimmed with small bows of velvet ribbon in charming color harmonies of red, pink and mauve.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

DURING BRISK WINTER weather, a cozy fire in the fireplace suggests one of those "nice to stay home evenings" when the whole family will enjoy a simple informal Sunday night supper. And the nice part of it is, there is never a time in the whole year when Sunday night supper is so easy to prepare.

Cream of Oyster Soup, a modern version of oyster stew, is a suitable main course for an informal supper. A nutritious soup, made tasty with whole milk and butter, is always completely satisfying as the main course for a luncheon or supper. It is important that the meal be simple in detail but attractively served.

CREAM OF OYSTER SOUP

¾ cup butter
2 tbsp. flour
1 qt. milk
½ pint oysters
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. celery salt
Dash pepper

Melt butter in top of double boiler; remove from heat and blend in flour. Add milk and stir constantly over direct heat until mixture boils and thickens slightly. Add seasonings and place over boiling water; cover. Remove any bits of shell from oysters. Chop oysters, using chopping bowl; add with liquid to hot mixture, heat thoroughly, approximately 10 minutes, and serve piping hot with crisp crackers or buttered toast strips and rings. Makes 6 servings.

Attractive and colorful "father's cups" in gay striped pottery have been used as a soup service in the picture on this page. Each cup holds about a cup and a half of soup, and the large side saucers serve as a service plate for buttered toasted bread rings and sticks.

With generous cups of soup, a salad and simple dessert are all that is necessary to complete the meal.

WINTER VEGETABLE SALAD

1 cup well-drained, canned tomatoes, chopped
1 cup shredded cabbage
½ cup diced celery
1 tsp. scraped onion
Salt and pepper
1 tbsp. vinegar
3 tbsp. salad oil
Combine vegetables; season with salt and pepper; sprinkle with vinegar and salad oil; toss lightly. Chill before serving. Makes 6 servings.

PRUNE WHIP

¾ cup cooked, pitted prunes
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
4 egg whites
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Sieve prunes or cut very fine; add sugar and cook until dissolved, stirring constantly. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff but not dry. Fold in prune pulp and lemon juice. Pile in sherbet glasses and top with whipped cream or soft custard. Or pour into lightly greased baking dish and bake in moderate oven (325 deg. F.) 30 to 45 minutes or until firm. Serve at once with whipped cream or soft custard. Cooked, dried peaches or apricots may be substituted for prunes. Makes 6 servings.

GRAHAM CRACKER PUDDING

¾ cup butter
4 cups diced apples
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon or nutmeg
½ to 1 cup broken nut meats
2½ cups coarse graham cracker crumbs
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup cream or evaporated milk

Melt butter in 8-inch square pan; spread apples evenly in pan. Mix granulated sugar, salt, and cinnamon; sprinkle over apples. Sprinkle with nut meats. Thoroughly mix crumbs and brown sugar; moisten with cream and spread over first mixture. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve hot or cold with plain or whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

The Correct Thing

By Elton Ames

OH, LADY—DON'T!

There's never any excuse for putting your pocketbook, gloves, furs or other "foreign" articles on the restaurant table. If you can't keep them in your lap, ask the waiter to bring a chair on which you may put them.

Beauty

IF YOU WANT to feel as svelte and languidly lovely as Claudette Colbert looks in this lovely hostess gown, try a reducing bath of foamy, foot-high bubbles which Arline Gould tells you of today.

APPLE BLOSSOM FOAM BATH REFRESHES YOU

By ARLINE GOULD

IF YOU ARE one of these procrastinators about losing weight . . . and who isn't? . . . we'll tell you a secret that will do the trick. Not only will it put you into the right frame of mind to stick to your resolve, but it will help you take off those excess pounds. So listen while we tell you about an apple blossom foam bath that we have discovered.

Even before you step into the foot-high blanket of bubbles, you'll begin to glow, just looking at it. And when you sink down into the foam, you can just feel those tired muscles relaxing and those worry lines smoothing out around your eyes; honestly, you feel more glamorous by the minute.

If you are reducing, you will have the water as hot as you can "take" it comfortably. If you are just enjoying it for beauty and your nerves, it will be warm.

In either case, you will lie there, letting your worries drift away on the shimmering bubbles, for 15 or 20 minutes. Reducers will have a warm rubber sheet handy and will wrap themselves up in it . . . snooze a bit, perhaps . . . for 10 more minutes. Then you will take a shower, reducing the water temperature from warm to cold . . . give yourself a good rubdown with a big, fleecy Turkish towel, and you will feel that the world is wonderful and you are a new person.

The real apple-blossom fragrance will transport you into a dream world . . . push the calendar ahead to May, with soft breezes wafting the perfume of a pink-and-white orchard.

If you have a date, which you had almost dreaded because your mood was all wrong, you will face it after your beauty bath with a sparkle in your eye and a lift in your laugh.

If you are going to bed, skip the cold shower, pat yourself dry in a le'surely fashion instead of so briskly, and climb into the downy to sleep as you haven't in weeks.

For all this luxury, what do you pay? Actually, 10 cents a "treatment." You get enough for 10 baths in a dollar package. Arline Gould will tell you the name of these bubble-making grains if you call LiBerty 4000 any week-day except Saturday between 9 and 5, or write her, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, at the Boston Evening American.

Douglas' Program Will Aid Morale

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Friday—One of my old friends marked yesterday that it was a curious thing how willing we are to ask artists to contribute their time, their money and their talents for charitable and civic purposes, and yet we will not concede that they have a right to take part in a broad effort of preparation for war on a paid, or unpaid basis. It doesn't seem exactly a generous attitude on the part of the public, does it?

This is, of course, merely a prelude to saying that I am delighted that Mr. Melvyn Douglas is to make it possible for many people in the artistic professions, who have offered their services in the war effort, actually to do things which will contribute to the morale of the nation.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

QUAINT OLD fashioned sentiments, such as real lace frills around bridal bouquets, poke bonnets tied with streamers and decorations of fragrant jasmine, are characteristic of 1942's St. Valentine weddings...

Out in Brookline a small gathering of family friends is witnessing the lovely wedding of Hannah Coffin and Dr. Wilson Fitch Smith which is being performed by Lt. Col. the Rev. Abbot Peterson, D. D., in the Lyon Chapel of First Parish Church...

Preceding the four o'clock ceremony the picturesque chapel will resound with the soft strains of nuptial music played and sung by a group of Hannah's musically gifted friends...

Given in marriage by her brother, Winthrop B. Coffin, the bride is wearing an exquisite old fashioned gown of white satin with an over dress of alternating bands of satin and marquisette. It is fashioned over a hoop skirt, with a slight train, bishop sleeves and softly gathered shoulder line. Her veil is of tulle fastened to a headress of baby white gardenias and lilies of the valley and her bouquet is a typical Valentine affair of white jasmine, bouvardia, and white sweet peas surrounding a white orchid and encircled with a frill of family heirloom lace...

Due to the simplicity of the wedding the bride is unattended. . . . Shepherd Smith, brother of the bridegroom, is best man. . . . Following a brief wedding trip the bridal couple will live in Hartford, Ct.

PEGGY DURKEE, attractive, vivacious daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Durkee of Caroline Park, Waban, is exchanging marriage vows with Fred Warren Benton at a candlelight ceremony in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, this afternoon. . . .

Rev. Stanley Warren Ellis is officiating. . . . Given in marriage by her father, the bride is wearing a gown of ivory faille with a long tulle veil falling from a headress fashioned of her mother's lace and orange blossoms. . . . She is carrying white roses, narcissus and freesia. . . . Her sister, Katharine Durkee, the maid of honor, and Dorothy Mason Boyce, bridesmaid, are wearing hyacinth blue flake gowns and blue veils. Kay with pink roses for her headress and bouquet, and Dorothy with yellow. . . .

Herbert Benton, brother of the bridegroom, is best man and the ushers are John Durkee, brother of the bride; Dr. Ronald Jackson of Baltimore, Gordon Macmaster of Laconia, N. H., and Delbert Lawson of Everett. . . .

The reception is being held at the Durkee home, where the bride's mother is receiving in a gown of American beauty with a matching belt and corsage of white camellias. . . . Mrs. Charles W. Benton of Everett, mother of the bridegroom, is wearing teal blue with duobonnet accessories. . . .

After July 1 Mr. Benton and his bride will reside in Boston. . . .

Listen, World!

TAKE A CHANCE

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I dunno where I came from,
Nor why I'm here,
Nor what the shooting's
All about,
Nor where I'm going—
BUT I'M ON MY WAY!

Maybe this old world
Is going to the dogs,
Or maybe it isn't—
Maybe we humans
Are just a bunch of Empty-headed,
Spavin-jointed,
Knock-kneed,
Cross-eyed
Sissies, 'fraid cats
And so-n'-so's,
Or maybe we're not—
And maybe I'm
Just fooling myself,
Wasting my time,
Breeding a scab on my nose
And luvving
A kick in the Lounging pajamas
When I keep on thinking
That life's worth while
And that I'm entitled
To a star role—
But I'm gonna go
Right on thinking it
AND ACTING ACCORDINGLY.
Watch my smoke!

I'm gonna take a chance!
I'm gonna take
All the chances there are
On everything in sight!
And suppose I'm wrong?
Suppose I fail?
Suppose the Croakers
And the Glooms
Have the right dope,
And there isn't
Any more than this?
Why, then, at least
I'll have had the fun
Of believing, and of putting
On a dandy lot of action
While the putting was good—
Which will certainly be more
Than the good guessers had!
So, going or coming, stranger,
I STAND TO WIN!

I dunno where I came from.
I dunno why I'm here.
I dunno what we're all about,
Nor how we're supposed to act.
But you can bet
Your last nickel on this—
I'm taking chances!
On this being
With a Right Gang
And a Right Guy behind us—
AND I'M BETTING MY SHIRT ON THE WORKS!

The gentlemen who spoke so harshly about him seem not to be aware of the fine work which Mr. and Mrs. Douglas have done in the migrant camps in California. I wonder how many of them can match the generosity to good causes which these two people have shown.

Sometimes I wonder whether harsh words or ignorance will not some day be paid for in bitterness of spirit. It seems to me that there is somewhere in the Bible a statement, which runs: "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

I SPENT MORE than half an hour with Franklin, Jr., in the hospital Wednesday morning and found him extraordinarily well. He let me read a part of his diary. Whatever else these young men may have on board ship, it can hardly be called a dull life.

I lunched with some friends on Wednesday and at 6 o'clock went down to the opening of the carnival for democracy, where many organizations have joined together to give information about their work. Interesting booths were put up for this purpose.

This being the annual Negro History Week, I found two booths at the carnival which gave information illustrative of the things which we should know about the Negro's contribution to our nation.

MRS. MORGENTHAU, Miss Thompson and I dined together and went to see and hear "Porgy and Bess." I had seen it once before, but I could not resist going again. We spent a delightful evening before Mrs. Morgenthau and I started by train for Ithaca, N. Y., for Farm and Home Week at Cornell University.

Today we shall be in Syracuse and Schenectady, and we shall be back in New York city tonight.

Army Colors For Wedding

In honor of her bridegroom and many of his ushers, Virginia Shrigley, petite and winsome daughter of the Wilfred Shrigleys of Salem, has chosen army colors of gold and white for the floral decorations at Grace Church, where she is being married this afternoon to Lt. H. Spencer Potter of Philadelphia.

The gold motif is carried out also in the bridesmaids' gowns of yellow tulle and the sprays of fresh acacia which adorn their frilly tulle muffs.

The bride is wearing a gown of traditional white with a velvet bodice, full net skirt and long tulle veil attached to a coronet of orange blossoms.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Howard Wheeler and Mrs. Arnold Lawson, Jr., and the maid of honor, Dorothy Miner, are wearing blue marquisette with blue veiled hats and tulle muffs applied with rubrum lilies and acacia. There are eight yellow clad bridesmaids.

Lt. Frank Itgens of Philadelphia has been prevented by military assignments from performing best man duties and Edith Seamans of Salem has to forego the fun of being a bridesmaid due to her duties as an army nurse. Capt. Clifton Marlaghlin, originally scheduled as an usher, is serving as best man.

The bride is wearing a gown of heavy slipper satin made on princess lines with a heart shaped neckline, a tulle veil fastened to a coronet of orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet of gardenias.

Her four attendants are Mrs. Hart Day Leavitt of Andover, wearing royal blue; Mrs. G. Chychele Waterston, North Andover, hyacinth blue; Mrs. Roger B. Whitman, Wellesley, deep purple, and Miss Nancy E. Hickey, West Newton, deep red.

A small reception follows at the home of the bride's parents.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the courageous, accurate-shooting men of the United States Pacific fleet who sank sixteen Japanese vessels, including five warships, in a successful attack on enemy bases in the Marshall and Gilbert islands. This is the kind of action that insures victory for America in this conflict.

SCIENCE offers new hope to cancer sufferers. Distinguished New York doctors now say that biotin, a universally distributed B vitamin in human and animal tissues, frequently promotes the dreaded disease that kills thousands each year.

Knowing what causes cancer, doctors are better able to treat and cure it.

Some day cancer will be looked upon as a relatively minor affliction, no more to be feared than an aching tooth or common boil. Let us pray that it isn't far away.

BOSTON'S CREDIT should be utilized sparingly now so that it will be available later on to meet the inevitably more serious exigencies which are ahead of us, says the Boston Municipal Letter, organ of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Committee on Municipal Finance.

"The huge Federal taxes which will be necessary to finance the war effort and to retain our national solvency will preempt the revenue field," the Committee states.

"To seek large new revenues for States or municipalities in this crisis impresses us as unrealistic."

Nor is the Committee enthusiastic about Mayor Tobin's proposal that the Federal Government collect taxes and then distribute them among States and cities.

"We hesitate to support it," members say, "because it may prove to be a boomerang."

"The result of Federal practices in the past has leaned too far toward the draining of tax revenues from Massachusetts to finance less fortunate States in other sections of the country."

"The degree of Federal control over municipalities which would accompany such a plan is also a danger."

This is sound common sense. It is up to all Mayors to understand that the United States is fighting a major war and then to conduct themselves accordingly.

The Federal Government has enough to do without taking on the Mayors' responsibilities.

IF YOU ARE STOUT or just plain "fat" you should rejoice in the fact.

Your excess poundage gives you an ability to resist colds and pneumonia that your slender, underweight neighbors can never hope to enjoy.

Authority for this statement is Dr. Charles E. Shepard, Stanford University's health service director, who has examined more than eight hundred students during the past year.

Perhaps William Shakespeare was entertaining a similar thought when he wrote:

"Let me have men about me that are fat,
"Sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o' nights;
"Yond Cassius has a lean and hungry look."

Anyway, the discovery should interest the United States Army which wants soldiers that do not catch cold too frequently.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY, celebrated throughout the nation today, can and should produce the smiles that everybody needs in these trying times.

Everybody has a sweetheart—wife, mother, fiancée or dear friend. And everybody ought to remember his sweetheart with a gift or greeting card.

Of course, this is not leap year, but it is certainly not a social faux pas for a girl to send a valentine to a boy in camp or on a battleship.

There is no feeling quite so satisfying as the knowledge that one is affectionately remembered back home.

TO SAVE PAPER, the City of New York has ordained that its million school children shall have fewer written exercises and tests.

Furthermore, the city will require students to use both sides of each sheet, to reduce margins and heading spaces on homework, and to abandon the wasteful practice of skipping lines.

Why can't we do something like that in Massachusetts?

As a group, school teachers are conspicuously patriots. They will gladly support a defense program of this nature if our educational officials recommend it.

By E. V. DURLING

Some love is light and fleets away.
Heigho! The wind and rain:
Some love is deep and scorns decay.

Ah, well-a-day! In vain.

—MOTHERWELL.

IT WAS OVID who was fond of pointing out that Cupid, chosen to symbolize love, had wings. It was Helen Hunt Jackson who observed: "Love has a tide!" Here's hoping it is always high tide at your house... Have you ever heard your wife say: "I don't know what's the matter with my hair; I can't do a thing with it." No doubt you have. But next time make a note of it. When a woman says that it is a sign it is going to rain. That's what a Washington, D. C. meteorologist says. He says when a woman's hair won't stay in place, it is able to forecast the weather like aching corns.

ASIDES: From the testimony in a London, England, divorce case: "If in Doubt Turn 'Em Out' has always been my husband's motto. I am his third wife... It is well to keep in mind that President Roosevelt has stated: "We cannot wage this war in a defensive spirit. We will carry the attack against the enemy. We will hit him again and again, wherever we can reach him." A place I would like to see the Japs get hit is right in their Formosa.

PASSING BY: Oscar Reichow, baseball executive. One of the few mandolin players left. In his youth the mandolin was very popular. In those romantic times young fellows serenaded the objects of their affection. Mr. Reichow preceded his proposal to the lovely lady who is now his wife by playing on his mandolin and singing "It's Not Because Your Hair Is Curly" and "Love Me, and the World Is Mine"... Archibald MacLeish. Poet. Saw 13 months' service in France in World War I. Was fortunate to escape with his life as the 1914-1918 conflict was singularly unlucky for poets. Joyce Kilmer, Alan Seeger, John McCrae and Rupert Brooke all lost their lives in that war. Mr. MacLeish is now head of the government's O. F. F., which, in the event of your not being a student of the intricacies of Washington's "alphabetical soup," is the Office of Facts and Figures... Libby Holman. Torch singer. Haven't forgotten Libby have you? Remember her throaty-voice rendition of "Body and Soul?"

PALS: Now take your pals of today. Do you remember how you happened to meet them? I have a good pal I met in an unusual way. It was at Ebbetts Field in dear, old Brooklyn. I was standing up to get a look at something when I heard a voice from the rear yell: "Hey, Big Fellow! Was your old man a glazier?" This was an old Brooklyn gag shouted at anybody who blocked off a view. Anyway, considerable repartee ensued between the two of us and after the game we shook hands and had some refreshments together and that was the beginning of a friendship that has lasted many years.

SIDEGLIMPS: Sinclair Lewis says Litchfield, Ct., is the most beautiful town in the world. George Jean Nathan is inclined to agree with him. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Nathan are men who have seen a lot of the world. But Litchfield, Ct., is just not in it with Sausalito, Cal., overlooking the Golden Gate... Now a man has invented a golf glove which is claimed will enable a golfer to retain what is exactly the right grip. I need something like that to get the slice out of my drive. I hit a 375-yard drive yesterday; 300 on the golf course and 75 over the fence and on the highway nearby.

PLEASE NOTE: What a joy it is to meet friends who always say the right things such as: "You're getting this aren't you," "Boy, I wish I had your health," "That's a mighty looking tie you have there," etc. And how distressing to meet people who seem always to say the wrong thing; something that is disheartening or depressing. Somebody should write a book, "The Right Thing; And How to Say It"... "Isn't the Hotel Algonquin restaurant the best place in Manhattan to see the famous writers and magazine editors?" asks a literary celebrity enthusiast. I have heard such a claim made. But if you don't see any there try the bar of that place known as 21.

ADDED DETAILS: Owing to the wool shortage, non-military uniforms, especially those worn by women, should be greatly decreased. So states R. R. Guthrie of the War Production Board. Mr. Guthrie is a brave man to suggest women in service of national defense be deprived of their beloved uniforms. Already some of the girls are singing "Oh, You Nasty Man!" in his direction... Brilliant Chicago dramatic critic Ashton Stevens says the best 10 plays he saw in 50 years of play-going were "Madge" with Modjeska, "Alabama" by Augustus Thomas, "Secret Service" by and with William Gillette, "Becky Sharp," starring Minnie Maddern Fiske, "The Devil's Disciple" by G. B. Shaw, "The New York Idea" by Langdon Mitchell, "Peter Pan" by J. M. Barrie, starring Maude Adams, "Rain," starring Jeanne Eagles, "Our Betters" by Somerset Maugham and "Strange Interlude" by Eugene O'Neill.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Have another fancy statistic on me; three-fourths of the country's horse players according to a recent study of the matter are more than 35 years of age.

Broadway's Voice

CAROL BRUCE SETS FINE EXAMPLE

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—Broadway is the place where most success stories are set to music. A pretty girl who likes a melody may sing a chorus and find that she has graduated from the chorus. Cinderellas who yearn to see their names in lights have little interest in transforming pumpkins into yellow cabs; it's more practical for them to travel the rocky road to stardom, using songs as steppingstones. Because Broadway is the place where the pot of gold is frequently at the end of a rainbow rich in rhythm as well as color—"Deep Purple," "Green Eyes," "Rhapsody in Blue," "The Lady in Red."

THERE ARE MANY dazzling examples of girls who kept in tune and landed on top. Alice Faye, graduating from the chorus line and singing with Rudy Vallee's orchestra at the old Hollywood Restaurant. Carol Bruce, the erstwhile Brooklyn sales clerk, stepping into the spotlight for the very first time to intone a new-forget-me melody at N. T. G.'s short-lived Midnight Sun. Dorothy Lamour singing "The Man I Love" above the din of merry-makers at the One Fifth Avenue bar. Ann Southern then Harriet Lake, singing as ingenue in this and that musical. Martha Raye, swing pioneer, doing her first nightclub stint at Ben Marden's original Riviera.

ALICE FAYE

THERE ARE DOZENS of little girls with dozens of backgrounds, temperaments and hairdos, tackling that long-awaited, all-important very first job in the Big Town. Where did they come from? I can tell you that. Where are they going? That's up to the eccentric and unpredictable Fairy Godmother who watches over all career girls.

Take Linda Larz a girl with the kind of soap-d coloring that makes beads turn—luminous dark eyes, lustrous black hair, skin the pure white of writing paper. Right now, she works in Irv Carroll's band at Jack Dempsey's restaurant on Broadway. She lives with her mother in a tiny light housekeeping apartment far uptown, and travels to and from work by subway.

A few days ago she accompanied Carroll's band to Ft. Dix and sang for the boys, and afterward half a dozen of them wrote to her. That was Linda's first batch of fan mail. She shows the letters to everyone who will look and carries them with her wherever she goes.

THERE IS A REDHEAD from San Antonio, Tex., named Margaret Seawell. Because she is Vincent Lopez' newest protegee, and most recent addition to his band at the Taft Hotel, and you know the way Lopez changes his proteges' names to suit his numerological findings. Just as one girl became Betty Hutton and another Anne Barrett, so did Margaret Seawell recently become Karole Singer.

Karole Singer is a new type of Lopez vocalist. Hutton was jitterbug No. 1, then Barrett became Jitterbug No. 2, but Karole bears no resemblance to either in looks or song delivery. She can clown, but she can croon a ballad and put her listeners in a sentimental mood.

She is bubbly, good-humored, a detective story fan and a fiend for ice cream and chocolate layer cake. At the moment she's in a phase all girl singers live through—she thinks musicians are the most glamorous guys in the world, and wouldn't dream of dating any other brand of male.

IN ANOTHER GROOVE is a girl named Suzanne Daye. She was "Miss California" in 1930, but that beauty contest was just an odd interlude in a life devoted to Getting Somewhere. Suzanne is the most earnestly and openly ambitious girl in this town of ambitious girls. At 4 she was singing at Elitch's Garden in Denver. At 8 she was playing in "The Bluebird" at the Broadway Theater there. At 16 she left home and got a job in a musical called "Jazzmania." At the moment, she's singing at Leon and Eddie's—her first New York job. And she's making every momma, every note she sings, count.

Her salary isn't impressive, but she wears gowns that cost two and three hundred dollars of her savings money. She has her pale-golden hair styled by the most expensive coiffure artist in town. She looks—and acts—like a fashion magazine illustration, sleek, slender, sophisticated.

She realizes it takes nine hours' sleep a night and new songs and new arrangements and a new makeup artist to "do her face" every evening before she goes out into the spotlight. She knows what she wants, and she thinks she's going to get it.

BOSTON after DARK

BY GEORGE HOLLAND

BEST CRACK OF THE WEEK: This young man sat alone, grim and glum, at the Latin Quarter, occupying a wall-bench where two percas customarily are seated. . . . In New York, when a young member of Cafe Society ornaments a nightclub table large enough for two (as some of the nightclub tables in New York sometimes are), he or she is pegged almost immediately as a torch-carrier. . . . A bona-fide torch carrier is regarded by Cafe Society regulars with more envy than pity. . . . Grafted the seriousness of pangs of unrequited love, the great recompense is close at hand. . . . Bona-fide, Grade-A, McCoy torch-carriers rate a line in a New York column. . . . How does a columnist identify a torch-carrier? . . . Simple. . . . The torch-carrier has sent him a telegram, telling all about it.

WELL, OUR YOUNG MAN'S ATTITUDE—here we are back in Boston—was so grim and glum, and he so obviously was busy with its dark thoughts, that this, in New York, would have been a clear-cut specimen of McCoy torch-carrying. . . . But in Boston our cafe regulars wear fraternity emblems in their lapels instead of bleeding hearts on their sleeves.

ONLY ONCE IN 10 years of harping around the Boston bright-lights belt has your reporter ever been accosted by a torch-carrier with a plea to print the name of his beloved and the news that she was cruel. . . . (And that didn't get in type on the grounds that who the heck, except the gee himself, cares?) . . . Something did seem to be bothering the young man at the Latin Quarter. . . . (When they are waiting, they always complain, so it couldn't be that.) "What's the trouble?" we inquired at last. . . . "I love her," he said. . . . "Yesterday Ben Lovell's birthday I sent her flowers. . . . ALEXANDER LEBRON RYLAND BUT THE HORSE-PLAYERS. . . . Moral? Don't consider a stray lone-wolf in a Boston nightclub until you know the reason for his gripe. . . . It might be neither the war news nor a yearning heart. . . . He might be just a habitual horse-player, fresh from a bad day with the bookies."

THIS IS A TRUE STORY—about Rube Bernstein, the veteran theatrical manager who is guiding the destinies of "My Sister Eileen" in Boston. . . . The Rube has a gravel-voice and is a bass Andy Devine. . . . This adds to his charm, which is considerable. . . . It seems the Rube was working for Edly Rose, and the proud little Bantam Barnum (Mr. Rose) was trying to set up records with his Aquacade show. . . . The show was playing in an auditorium whose absolute capacity was 11,600. . . . "Pack in 12,000 people tonight, Rube, and I'll buy you a new Earl Benham," said Mr. Rose to Mr. Bernstein.

BELLE BAKER COMING TO THE MAYFAIR

Opens Nightclub Engagement on March 4

his company manager. . . . (An Earl Benham is a garment tailored beautifully and in the cut Broadway big-shots like and comes in two styles, $155 and $160) . . . Mr. Bernstein needed a new Earl Benham, and he acknowledged the pact with some alacrity and a hoarse "okay" . . . And The Rube packed in 12,000 that night. . . . The suit turned out to be a dream and required only three fittings. . . . The Rube got ambitious.

"COMEBACK, BOSS?" he barked at Rose a week or so later. . . . "I'll pack in 13,000 tonight, do I get another Earl Benham?" . . . "No," said Mr. Rose, after considering the proposition carefully. "But I'll tell you what I'll do. Pack in 14,000 people and you'll get another suit!" . . . The Rube shook his head. . . . The Little Napoleon of show-business was demanding the unthinkable. . . . But his resourceful manager made good. . . . Not without complaints. . . . One complainant was a mild little fellow. . . . His squawk about not being able to see was hardly under way when Mr. Bernstein, taking the offensive, had belittled him down. . . . "For 44 cents you should be happy to see this show through a crack!" . . . "Okay," said the mild little fellow mild but practical. "Show me the crack!"

AFTER JOHN BOLES COMES Erik Rhodes to the Mayfair. . . . Then, on March 4, Belle Baker. . . . On March 15, Frances Fay (who has lost 58 pounds) . . . And (cheers) Joe E. Lewis returns to the Mayfair on April 13. (Ssssh. Mr. Lewis will be a married man by then, we hear. The bride-to-be is that wealthy Cincinnati we told about some time ago) . . . Lovely Evelyn Martin has been held over at the Cocoanut Grove.

DUAL ROLE AWAITS CARY GRANT

By Louella O. Parsons

Cary Grant

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14 The proudest Russian of them all, the volatile, excitable Gregory Ratoff, has just bought the film rights to a British novel, "I Am Saxon Ashe." Written anonymously, it was brought out by the same publishers who printed Jan Valtin's "Out of the Night." Curiously enough the British novel involves identical twin sons—one who becomes an Anthony Eden type of diplomat and the other a clown. Alexander Dumas' "The Corsican Brothers" also brought twins to the screen and, directed by Gregory, inspired the purchase. But don't think for a moment Greg didn't have a producing card up his sleeve. Oh yes, he's going to produce and direct the picture for Columbia and he is hoping (I say hoping) that Cary Grant will like the dual role well enough to accept it as his next Columbia picture.

WHETHER it is Ruth Hussey may wed Lauchlin Currier sooner than anyone expects. She stepped to see him in Kansas City and, after leaving him as soon as she could, she went to his apartment. . . . L. H. Currier is a big, handsome, capable bar and for one he tells his girl. He tells a naval officer and she is the girl to his eye. . . .

RONALD REAGAN, whose Brenda Marshall, right to stardom won't be disputed after "Kings Row" is released, gets his first official starring role in "Washington Broadcast," a story of current Washington affairs. It also marks Robert Buckner's debut as a producer. Heretofore, Buckner has been one of Warner's writers and, of course, he will consult with Robert Hunt, who is scheduled to do the adaptation. Romance gets another break—Raoul Walsh as director, Brenda Marshall gets the top femme spot and maybe, with Raoul's direction, she may get her chance.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Rita Quigley and Gene Reynolds at Charlie Foy's the cutest pair in town; Buz Berkeley's mother, so popular with all his friends, is critically ill. Is there trouble again in the Bill Connelman ménage? He was staggering it at the bandbox and looking so dejected; Ad Randall has been offered a job in South America and he and Barbara Bennett are looking over maps; Lupe Velez says we are mistaken. She was not dining with Arturo Cordova, who is married. Perhaps it was Lupe's most constant companion, Eric Remarque.

WALLACE BEERY has been given the unpleasant job of taking off 50 pounds and reducing to a mere 200. He tips the scales at 250; the Mack Gordon baby is due any minute and if it doesn't arrive tomorrow Mrs. G. will go into the hospital; Loretta Young's pretty little sister, Georgiana, dining and dancing with John La Titta at the Coco-Nut Grove. Her royal heart, Billy Halep, is in Texas.

MARGARET WHITING and Phil Silvers have been hit by the moon; Peggy Moran, Henry Koster's girl friend, is being tested tomorrow for the role of Joan Crawford's sister in "He Kissed the Bride"; Judy Garland got up too soon and had a relapse. She has gone to Palm Springs to recuperate; John Payne (Lonely Heart) returns Sunday.

THAT'S ALL for today. See you tomorrow. But Mrs. Hildur Drew of Jackson, Heights, Long Island, says: "Buy defense bonds. A bond a day keeps the flag okay."

THAT proposal to move enemy aliens 500 miles back from the shoreline sounds okay. Until you figure it gives the enemy a new shoreline 500 miles inland.

THE ONLY SAFE thing to do to an enemy alien is to take his doorknob away from him.

MEADS URGE SERVICE MEN'S FREE SKIING

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

PICO PEAK, Rutland, Vt., Feb. 14—Those pioneers of Pico Peak, Brad and Janet Mead, who originated and developed this vast skiing area, are now formulating a plan whereby all United States soldiers and sailors—in fact, those in any branch of the service—will be given free admittance to the slopes, including all-day tickets on the Alpine Lift and tow.

Following the trend of the splendid idea, Earl Ackert, head of the Pico Swiss Ski School, would donate his time and instructions to men in uniform who wish to ski. Those who are already proficient skiers could avail themselves of this opportunity and further their ability.

Such an idea is certainly very patriotic and in keeping with the spirit of the times. Complete details are yet to be worked out, but this scheme will materialize very soon. Once it does, every major ski center in New England should immediately follow suit. And when New England sets the pace, the far West and the rest of the skiing world will then emulate what we have started, as usual.

Janet Mead, energetic and ingenious, is most enthusiastic about giving service men an opportunity to ski.

"Physical fitness is most important to national defense and war work," she told us, her eyes reflecting the sparkle of the powder snow through the window. "Everyone should take up skiing or go in for some outdoor sport. There are too many sports for spectators in this country; whereas skiing, golf, tennis, hiking, hunting and fishing are sports in which everyone of all ages can participate."

Lenahan Best Baseball Golfer

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Ray Lenahan, a better golfer than he was a pitcher, out-classed the diamond stars here to win the baseball players golf championship by six strokes.

With the help of an eagle, he carded a one-over-par 73 on the final round for a 54-hole total of 218.

Lenahan, 46-year-old Providence, R. I., shirt salesman, served a brief hitch with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1913. His short diamond career ended with Springfield of the Eastern League in 1920.

OLYMPICS BOW AGAIN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 14 (AP)—Tommy Burlington boosted his lead in the Eastern Amateur Hockey League individual scoring race here last night by scoring three goals and as many assists as the Atlantic City's Sea Gulls, conquered the league-leading Boston Olympics, 10 to 2.

Paul Waner Sets Sights On N. L. 3000-Hit Target

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Before the season is out, Paul Waner expects to get hit No. 3000—a baseball feat equaled by only six other players.

"Throwing out injuries, I've got it in the bag," the Boston Braves outfielder said, when told that a recent checkup showed he needs only 44 base hits to make the grade.

"I feel like I can play in 125 games this year. I didn't have any trouble going through double headers last year, and I'd much rather be in there. I don't like to sit on the bench."

"But even if I only get in 50 games, I still ought to get enough hits. Why, I ought to luck that many."

Waner thinks official baseball records credit him with 2964 hits—only 36 short of the goal—but I may be wrong."

Approaching his 39th birthday, "Big Poison" feels he has two or three more years of active service left—then he wants to stay in baseball "regardless of the position."

Admittedly slower, he said the safe hits come harder now than they did in the years while he was winning the National League batting championship three times, in 1927, 1934 and 1936.

"I used to beat out a lot of infield hits," he added. "I figure being slower means a difference of 20 or 30 points in my batting percentage."

BRUINS ON WAY WEST FOR TILT WITH HAWKS

The Bruins squad left Boston today for Chicago, where the revamped team meets the Blackhawks tomorrow night in a National League game.

The Bruins team will go to Ottawa where they play against the Royal Canadian Air Force team Tuesday, for the Air Force Relief Fund.

A game with the Americans in New York Thursday will finish up this road trip and they will have just nine league games to play when they meet the Rangers back at the Garden, Tuesday, Feb. 24.

The Bruins practiced at the Arena Friday. At that time Manager Art Ross announced the appointment of Eddie Wiseman as assistant captain in place of Bobby Bauer. Jack Crawford becomes the Bruins' acting captain. Dit Clapper still holds the post of captain as well as assistant manager, which he will assume as soon as he is able to return to Boston and recover from his injury of a cut Achilles tendon, suffered two weeks ago in Toronto.

Herb Cain has reported to the Bruins, but he was not permitted to skate in practice and did not go West. He may join the Bruins in New York next week.

Bruins worked out in their new pines, with Jack McGill centering for Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman; Hollett skating for Dutch Hillier and Gordon Bruce and Art Jackson working between Harvey Jackson, Phil Hergesheimer and Lonnie Gronsda. Jack Shewchuk, Jack Crawford, Desse Smith and Clare Martin will play defense in the new lineup in front of Goaler Frank Bueck.
